I am pleased to provide a recommendation for Ms. Emily Cashdan. Emily was an intern for The Coca-Cola Company during the summer of 2018 and was primarily assigned to work with my marketing and sales team at World of Coca-Cola, the multi-media attraction and home of the secret formula for Coca-Cola, located in downtown Atlanta.

During her internship, Emily contributed to our team in many ways. She gained valuable experience and participated in activities in the fields of marketing, sales, sustainability, public relations and earned media. While some of her assignments were quite tedious and basic in nature, Emily approached each with professionalism and a great work ethic, understanding that her efforts would contribute to the team's success and ultimately, help us achieve our goals.

Emily worked with team members across a variety of functions at World of Coca-Cola and within our corporate Public Affairs and Communications team during her internship. As a result of her collaboration with multiple partners, Emily helped design an exhibit for our corporate headquarters that highlighted The Coca-Cola Company's efforts around sustainability. She also crafted an article for Journey, our company's online magazine, entitled "10 Things You Didn't Know about TCCC's Sustainability History".

It was a pleasure having Emily as part of our team. I would wholeheartedly endorse her as a potential member of yours.
